etiquette

It's important when you are about to be inspired or share in some laughs to realize there is no time like the present. You should always live for the moments you cannot put into words. Be prepared to give yourself permission to be happy, relax, and remember the points that really resonate with you. Never forget it's wise to 'live to learn and learn to live, collect moments not things'.

etiquette

Ensure that your vision is clear and objectives are clearly outlined so the outcomes can be measured to your satisfaction.
